

Left—The 14-year-old movie star, John Carr in real life and "Skin-nay" in reel, is an energetic Boy Scout. He walked into the office of Clare Briggs, creator of his movie self, the other day, captured Briggs and marshalled him to the office of former Treasury Secretary McAdoo and present head of the Scout Drive Committee. Mr. Briggs meekly invested in a Boy Scout membership.

The newest things in bathing suits brighten the beach at Margate, England. The "dazzle" designs of gayest hues defeat the usual purpose of camouflage, that of promoting low visibility.

Left—Miss Elisabeth Marbury sailed the other day on the S. S. La Lorraine to work among the overseas troops as K. of C. secretary—the first woman to be sent to France by the Knights of Columbus.

Right—William J. Flynn, former head of the Secret Service, is now in charge of the government investigation and nationwide search for "Reds." The trail of the recent bomb outrages leads Mr. Flynn to New York.

The quiet realization of Susan B. Anthony's dream, when Vice-President Marshall, in the presence of prominent suffragists, signed the suffrage resolution just passed by the Senate.

The faithful machine which chug-chugged through the counting and wrapping of wagonloads of pennies and nickels with which it was fed during the recent Salvation Army drive.

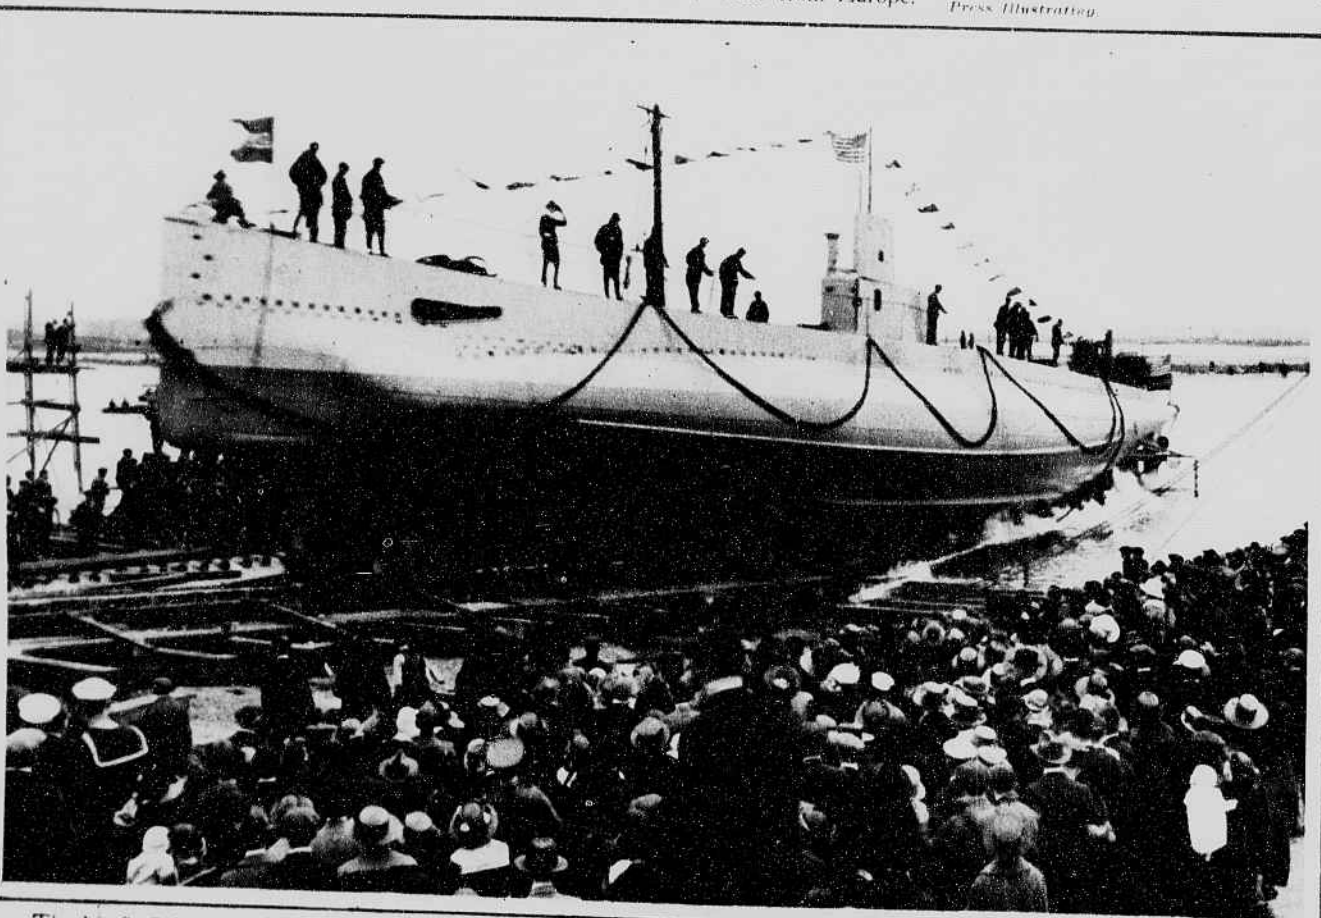

President-Elect Pessoa of Brazil and the King of Italy ride through the streets of Rome. Dr. Pessoa and his party are expected to visit the United States on their way home from Europe.

Left—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Croker. Hale and vigorous at 76 years and an enthusiastic sportsman, the one-time famous Tammany leader sails for his Irish estate near Dublin. Mrs. Croker, a real American with Cherokee Indian blood, shares his enthusiasm for horseracing.

Right—C. Buszenyski, the first Consul General to the United States from Poland, prepared to give legal advice to the 4,000,000 Poles in this country.

The U. S. Submarine R-25 glides down her runway at the yards in Bridgeport for her trial trip. She is Uncle Sam's newest and best equipped type of undersea craft, and is ready for immediate service.

The ruins of the troop train wreck caused by a washout near Ashland, Neb., have all the dramatic thrill of a movie film. Also like a movie film, there were no serious casualties.